

At Home...

We take notes to focus on God's word and remember what we learn in the sermon. We want to carry what we learn with us. Reading over your notes and talking about them with your family are great ways to use what you have learned.

- ★ Read your notes to your parents and ask them any questions you may have.
- ★ Talk about a song from the service today. How does it connect to what was preached?
- ★ Was there a particular prayer, catechism, or other item recited by the congregation? If so, what was the purpose of it?

BULLETIN

A pastor usually has 3 main points in his sermon. Listen carefully to hear what they are. Write them in the numbered boxes. A pastor says many things about each main point. Use the extra space to write anything else you want to remember from the sermon.
